Further Speeches By Wallace Might Bring Cabinet Split

Reveals Intention to Talk Again on Subject; May Cause His Dismissal

Washington, Sept. 17—(AP)—Under Secretary of State William Clayton said today he assumes that any foreign policy speeches by government officials henceforth will be cleared with the state department before delivery.

Clayton made this statement at a news conference shortly after it was announced at the White House that Henry A. Wallace, whose speech last week on Russia churned up an uproar, will see President Truman tomorrow.

Clayton talked with Mr. Truman yesterday. On the same day, Wallace declared his intention of making more speeches on foreign policy in the future.

Clayton, in response to a question today as to whether speeches such as the one given by Wallace in New York last Thursday night will be cleared by the department, said he assumes they will.

He emphasized, however, that he did not believe Wallace or any other official necessarily would be bound by any changes suggested.

Clayton said he took it that Wallace has a right to make any kind of speech he wants to, but added that whether a speech might be wise or prudent is another question.

In response to a direct question, Clayton said he was assuming that the speech scheduled by Wallace in Providence, R. I., one week from today will be cleared by the department.

He was just assuming that, he said, because of the situation which arose as the result of the New York speech, in which Wallace criticized current American policy toward Russia.

Wallace declared his intention yesterday of keeping up his fight for changes in the conduct of this country's international affairs. That was before his appointment with the president was made.

High among the considerations obviously in that across-the-desk meeting will be the fact that the congressional elections are only seven weeks off.

Republicans already are making political capital of Wallace's speech in New York last Thursday and the resulting controversy over it, while Democrats acknowledge privately that they consider the incident their toughest "break" this year.

Washington, Sept. 17—(AP)—Here's an ABC on the uproar over the Henry Wallace speech on this country's foreign policy.

President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes shape our foreign Wallace and Byrnes, usually stay out of one another's field.

Byrnes Didn't See It

Byrnes, in Paris, didn't see the speech. And Wallace did not show it to any of Byrnes' helpers policy. They decide how we deal with other countries.

Byrnes is in Paris now. He's working with other nations on World War II peace treaties.

He's working and battling in line with the foreign policy he and Mr. Truman have laid down.

New Gold Strike Stirs High Fever in Crescent City

Crescent City, Calif., Sept. 17—AP)—Unbearded prospectors still were fumbling through Crescent City in California's latest so-called gold rush today despite the warning voiced by old hands at the game that all is not gold that glitters, and this may be no "bonanza".

State and federal mining men rooting about for evidence of a big strike hinted that perhaps there ain't no gold in them thar hills.

Thus far, they explained, the only gold in evidence is a few small pebbles displayed by Ernest Hay, assayer of Crescent City. These samples were brought in from the Rattlesnake Ridge low divide country on Friday by an old prospector, Tom Cronin.

Hay put the ore through his special assay process and came up with the announcement: "this is rich stuff".

Within a matter of hours the stampede was on. As of a late hour yesterday, about 1,000 gold seekers had passed through Crescent City toward Cronin's take, and some 700 claims had been staked out or filed.

There was some encouragement yesterday when a dairyman, Gil Miller, reported finding gold in a quartz formation eight miles from Cronin's diggins. But nobody was bringing out gold ore by the sackful.

Mark Clark Thinks U.S. Help May Save Austria from Reds

Washington, Sept. 17—(AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark said today he believes American readiness to help Austria may determine whether that country becomes an independent, democratic state or a pawn between Russia and the west.

The four-star general who represents the United States on the allied coucil in Vienna termed an American rehabilitation program for Austria of from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 imperative for two reasons:

1. Nothing less wil prevent widespread starvation and chaos in the months after UNRRA aid to Austria ends Nov. 30.

2. Such a program may be used for bargaining purposes with Soviet officials to reach a permanent agreement on the economic and political future of Austria.

Clark cited those points to a reporter after a talk to the Washington overseas writers' club yesterday.

In that talk, the general cautioned hat unless the United States is willing to furnish Austria with a long-term rehabilitation loan and other assistance, the country will be forced to turn to Russia for its economic relations.

If such assistance is forthcoming, however, he added, the possibility of reaching an working basis with the Russians in Austria will be greatly improved.

"If I were sitting there in Vienna holding the purse strings, it might be much easier to reach agreements with the Soviet commander", Clark said. He would not expand that remark.

After detailing his difficulties with the Russians, Clark referred to the American occupation zone in Austria as "a bridgehead in eastern Europe", and said:

"We're going to stay there until we adjust our differences with the Soviets".

Wage Vote Set for Chalmers Workers

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 17—(AP)—Employes of two Allis-Chalmers manufacturing plants here, idled by a five months' strike, will vote tomorrow on whether to accept company proposals and return to work.

At a meeting last night, members of the CIO Farm Equipment and Metal Workers Union voted to withdraw their original demand for an 18½ cents an hour wage increase, which has balked negotiations between the union and the company.

The workers also voted to accept a company job evaluation program which provides a minimum wage of 76 cents an hour and a maximum of $1.17, with a seven cents hourly differential for night workers.

Joseph Miles, president of the local union, said employes will ballot tomorrow on "total acceptance" of the company's proposed contract, which includes an additional 13½ cents an hour and maintenance of membership.

Company officials contended in negotiations that a five cents increase granted last November plus the proffered 13½ cents, would add to the 18½ cents boost originally sought by the union.

Approximately 2,200 employes have been affected by the strike which began April 15. The two plants manufacture farm and road equipment.

COMMEND CHICAGO BOY

Chicago, Sept. 17—(AP)—John Popelka 12, of Chicago, has been awarded a medal by the Illinois Central railroad for reporting a fallen live wire on the railroad's track and preventing a possible accident.

Getting the Goods Is Main Problem, Green Tells Labor

America Now on Road to State Socialism, He Says in Rockford

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Governor Green said today the workers' greatest problem is not a job or wage levels, but "how and where to trade the wages they earned on the job for the basic essentials of living."

"The workers have been caught in a spiral of inflation x x x. the inevitable result of scarcity in a land of plenty," the Republican governor declared in an address prepared for the 64th convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Developments Disappointing

Asserting that economic developments the last year have been "disappointing," he continued:

"The experience of the last year should convince the leaders in the rank and file of labor in Amercia that we are definitely on the road of collectivism and state socialism.

"I am sure that none of us is satisfied with the record of this first year of peace."

Labor is looking to government leaders to adopt policies which will "restore general prosperity" rather than for special action in labor problems, he added.

Illinois Relatively Peaceful

Green said that in a year of "labor strife unprecedented in our history, conditions here (in Illinois) have been relatively peaceful."

Production and employment have been steady, he said, where it has been possible for local labor leaders to solve their problems through collective bargaining and without "interference of bureaucratic formulas and regulations."

President Reuben G. Soderstrom of the federation in a speech yesterday urged labor to work to outlaw the atomic bomb "and the whole dirty business of war."

Risked Life to Save Crippled Pigeon in Path of Rushing Train

Chicago, Sept 17—(AP)—Robert Pelikan, nine year old school boy didn't think about himself or his mother's warning when he saw an Illinois Central train, three blocks away, speeding toward a crippled pigeon squatting helplessly on the railroad tracks.

Robert dashed onto the tracks, grabbed the pigeon with one hand and tumbled to safety down the other side of the embankment. Seconds later the train rushed by.

Hyde Park police said the pigeon, with a broken wing, seemed more frightened than Robert, who was worried only about this:

"Gosh, I wonder what Mom'll say when she hears I was on those railroad tracks."

Mother of Little Polio Victim Dies of Same Disease

Chicago Sept. 17—(AP)—Ten-year-old Paul Jensen stricken by infantile paralysis lay in a hospital bed today unaware that his mother was dead—a victim of the same disease.

His mother, Mrs. Eleanore D. Jensen, 32, died Saturday. The funeral services were held yesterday in the chapel of contagious disease hospital, where Paul is a patient

Ogle Prisoners Escape

James F. Henry and Marty Seals are reported by Ogle county authorities to be men of average size, but they managed to squeeze through a small hole (indicated by arrow) they chipped in the west wall of the Ogle county jail last night and gained their freedom. They used a screw driver, metal rod 12 inches long and a small pair of pliers to break through, then dropped 12 feet to the ground. Details in an adjoining column.

Prisoners Break Through Wall at Ogle County Jail

James Henry, Rochelle, and Marty Seals, Sycamore, Escape

Using a screw driver, a metal rod a foot long, and a small pair of pliers, two prisoners in the Ogle county jail at Oregon last night chiseled their way to freedom through the brick wall of the jail.

The fugitives are James Francis Henry, 32, Rochelle, and Marty Seals, 39, who formerly worked at Belvidere and Sycamore.

Both men were in jail awaiting action by the Ogle county grand jury. Seals on a charge of auto larceny and Henry for failure to support his wife and children. Henry had been a prisoner for three months. Seals for two months, officials said this morning

Deputy Sheriff James Maas discovered the escape at 7:30 a. m. today when he entered the cell block. The two men chiseled a hole slightly more than a foot wide and 18 inches deep to gain freedom. The hole was through the bricks of the west wall of the building, just north of the chimney, approximately 12 feet above the ground.

Sheriff Hungerford said he noticed nothing out of the ordinary when he made his last check of the prisoners at 10.45 p. m. last night. All prisoners were present then. On the ground below the hole were two wool socks, discarded by one of the prisoners evidently as he made his escape.

Authorities immediately notified state police to be on the watch for both men, but no reports on them had been received at 10:30 a. m. today

Henry was believed to be wearing a striped sweater when he escaped. Seals is said to have the initials "E. O. G." tattooed on his right arm, and the name "Sally" on his left arm

Lucas Predicts No Change in Senate Control This Fall

Washington, Sept. 17—(AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill) said today "it is a 40-to-1 shot that the senate remains Democratic" after this fall's elections.

Lucas is chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee.

He called the odds to reporters as a result, he said, of reading numerous statements by Republicans that their party is going to carry the senate.

The present line-up in that body is 56 Democrats, 38 Republicans, one Progressive and one vacancy. The party controlling 49 or more seats gets to organize the senate, name committee chairmen, and hand out capitol jobs.

"While these Republicans talk about carrying certain states now represented by Democratic senators," Lucas said, "they forget in their pronouncements to tell you what states, now represented by Republicans, they may lose.

"My information is that the Democrats have more than an even chance to carry Connecticut, California, Kentucky and Wisconsin.

"There is also a good chance for Democrats in North Dakota and Indiana."

Rowe Supporting State Bonus Plan

Paris, Ill., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Richard Yates Rowe Republican nominee for state treasurer, today urged voters to support the $385,000,000 soldier bonus bond issue in the Nov. 5 referendum

Speaking at a campaign rally, Rowe said if the bonus program is approved, Illinois veterans will receive the largest state bonus in the nation. The program provides payments of $15 for each month of foreign service and $10 monthly for domestic duty.

Vernon L. Nickell campaigning for reelection as state school superintendent, said the state has released $65,000,000 for public improvements under the state's post-war construction program. More than $100,000,000 has been appropriated for this purpose

Because of building inactivity during the war, he added, state educational institutions now are "seriously overcrowded."

He said the financial support which the state has offered to its common schools has been "a vital factor contributing to the overall improvement of our educational system."

Snares Snails

Springfield, Mass.—(AP)—When Mrs. Charles Lionakis set her shopping bag on the sidewalk to hail a taxicab, a sneak thief made away with it. He's due for a surprise.

The parcel contained two pounds of live snails.

State Gets Two Polio Clinics; Train Staffs in Kenny Method

Chicago Sept. 17—(AP)—Doctors and nurses to staff two projected Sister Kenny Foundation poliomyelitis clinics in Illinois will begin training in Minneapolis in January, the foundation's state chapter announced today.

Rodney H. Brandon, Batavia, state chairman of the foundation, said the clinics, one in the Chicago area and one in southern Illinois, would be established before the 1947 season with assistance of trained technicians borrowed from the Sister Kenny Institute.

Temporary Quarters in 1947

The clinics probably will occupy temporary quarters next year, Brandon said, but the 1948 season is expected to see them in permanent modern hospital buildings, staffed with trained Illinois personnel.

Each clinic will be supervised by an orthopedic physician and a general practitioner, both trained at the Institute in the special aspects of polio therapy developed by Sister Kenny.

The nursing staff at each clinic will have at least two technicians trained in the foundation's methods. The Illinois nurses who ventually are to apply the muscular re-education techniques in the clinics will have two years of training in the Minneapolis institute.

Select Chicago Nurse

Miss Shirley Asklund of Chicago, a registered nurse, was the first nurse selected by the Illinois chapter of the foundation to take the institute course. Brandon said that four to six other nurses will be awarded $4,200 scholarships to train for the polio work in Illinois in the class to open Jan. 5, 1947.

The doctors who will supervise the clinics have not been named by the foundation, Brandon said. Following their study in Minneapolis, however, the doctors will have charge of establishing the state's treatment centers.

Restaurant Prices Go Back to June 30 Level; Clothing Up

GM Applies for Boost After Ford Gets New Hike From OPA

Washington, Sept. 17—(AP)—An OPA edict sent restaurant price ceilings on meat meals back to June 30 levels today, but the cost of cotton clothing inched up another notch.

Also on the price front:

1. OPA studied a petition for higher prices on General Motors automobiles after granting an average six per cent increase in retail ceilings for Ford-built cars.

2. The Price Decontrol Board, which meets tomorrow to decide whether to restore ceilings on dairy products, reported opposition to revival of controls in nine of the first dozen written statements received.

Hits All Meat Items

The OPA order restoring June 30 restaurant ceilings immediately applies to all meals and individual menu items in which meat is the major ingredient.

In issuing the order last night the agency said the cost of dining out was being "rolled back", but it did not estimate how much.

An OPA official told a reporter, however, that "most of the increases we have heard about have been about 10 per cent."

Until yesterday ceilings on meat-base restaurant meals had been "frozen" temporarily at prices in effect Aug. 31, just prior to restoration of ceilings on live animals.

OPA said that while the restaurant industry had "pressed" for ceilings higher than the June 30 level, an industry committee had been unable to present sufficient evidence "to show that restaurants could not absorb the prevailing admittedly higher costs for meat."

At retail, ceilings restored on meat early this month averaged about 3 cents a pound more than those of June 30.

Cotton Clothes Going Up

While meat was not under price control restaurants were permitted to base their ceilings on the actual cost of raw meat. They continue under this principle in the case of menu items which still are ceiling free, such as fish, poultry and dairy products.

OPA's restaurant order came as the agency announced that retail prices for about half of all cotton clothing produced are going up another one per cent.

The new boost is necessary, the agency said, to offset a price hike averaging two percent in ceiling prices for cotton textile made by mills paying a wage increase of five cents hourly approved last week by the Wage Stabilization Board.

These mills, OPA said, turn out "more than half" of the total volume of cotton production.

On bed sheets and pillow cases, towels, table cloths and napkins, the retail increase will amount to about 2½ per cent, OPA estimated.

GM Asks Boost

The textile increase, on top of an 18½ per cent average price hike authorized last month, is effective tomorrow. The new increase for clothing, which consumers will begin paying in four to eight weeks, is in addition to a climb of seven to ten per cent which resulted from the earlier jump in textile ceilings.

As for auto prices, an OPA official said the General Motors

Think 14 Members of Norwegian Ship Lost in Hurricane

Lewes, Del., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Twenty-four survivors of the Norwegian tanker Marit II that broke into on Friday 148 miles off Elizabeth City, N. C., on the cold front of a tropical hurricane, rested safely today in east coast ports as hope waned for 14 other missing crew members.

Six of the crew, picked up from a life raft Sunday night by the S. S. Gulf Hawk, were landed here yesterday and taken to Beebe hospital. They suffered exposure and minor cuts but none was seriously injured. Eighteen others, picked up by the tanker Panamoco and landed at Morehead City, N. C., yesterday, prepared to leave today for Rocky Mount, N. C., where they will board a plane for New York. Three sustained minor bruises but all were in good physical condition.

Meanwhile as army, navy and coast guard aircraft and surface craft continued their search for possible survivors of the foundered 7,417-ton Marit II, Lt. Cmdr. J. R. Scullion, coast guard public information officer at Norfolk, Va., said it was unlikely that additional survivors would be found.

With lips still parched, the six seamen who were landed here told of the terrifying 56 hours they spent clinging to a life raft that pitched and wallowed in a 30-foot seal after the ship broke in two at the spot where a German torpedo had struck the vessel four years ago.

Williamson said the ship split forward of the bridge while only a moderate sea was running and within five minutes had settled into the water.

Erther Ericksen, one of the crewmen landed at Morehead, N. C., said the ship broke so quickly that the bridge, where Capt. Williamson and his wife were standing, was awash almost instantly. Only crew members who were fore and aft had a chance for survival, he added.

The Marit II was out of Arendel, Norway, bound for New York with a cargo of 10,000 tons of crude oil that it had picked up in Dutch New Guiana.

Scout Fund Drive Opens Here Today

The annual Investment campaign for the Girl and Boy Scouts of Dixon gets under way today, and will run for a period of two weeks. The drive is headed this year by W. C. Thompson, general chairman, and a working committee of all-Girl Scout and Boy Scout personnel.

Mrs. Mary Malay, Mrs. C. F. Johnson and Mrs. Byron Countryman are directing the Girl Scouts in their phase of the drive. Girl Scouts personnel will canvass the entire residential area of Dixon, and it is hoped by campaign leaders that all residents and citizens of Dixon will graciously accept their calls and contribute as generously as possible.

The commercial, industrial and business district will be canvassed by 25 volunteer solicitors, and the campaign runs for two weeks, ending Sept. 28.

Local leaders emphasize the fact that Scout movements are among the strongest combatants of juvenile delinquency today and deserve the support of everyone in the community.

Indictments Charge Nine With Offenses In Lee Co. Session

All But One Will Be Arraigned Tomorrow Before Judge Dixon

The grand jury yesterday returned seven indictments naming nine persons on charges ranging from larceny to the operation of a confidence game, and the defendants are scheduled to be arraigned at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Circuit court before Judge George C. Dixon.

One man will be absent. He is LaVerne Landorf, accused of obtaining property by means of a fraudulent check. Landorf at the moment is in the custody of Portsmouth, Ohio, authorities, and is also wanted by Mt. Carroll authorities for violation of probation. He is charged with passing a bad $38.25 check at Treim's Jewelry store here Feb. 12.

The grand jury failed to indict Harry Winters, charged iwth taking approximately $90 from Mrs. Vivian Ratley here in June when witnesses failed to appear to give testimony. Judge Dixon immediately ordered subpoenaes issued for the January grand jury.

The grand jury also failed to indict three State hospital patients accused of breaking into Carson's service station and the Prince Castle on River street last summer. Judge Dixon also ordered subpoenaes issued and directed that the case be submitted to the January grand jury. The youths are Robert Krienke, Richard Basowski and Eugene Mioletti, all of Chicago.

In addition to Landorf, those indicted were:

Marshall Stauffer, 16, formerly of Amboy and Dixon, burglary and larceny. He is accused of taking $241 from Bybee's store, Amboy, last spring. Bond for him for set at $2,000.

Willard and Clarence Ware, Chana brothers, obtaining money by means of the confidence game. They are accused of getting money from Mrs. Anna Mae Jordan, Ashton, who planned to marry Willard, and bought a car, ostensibly for a wedding trip. Their bond was fixed at $1,500 each.

Bill Anderson, charged with receiving stolen property from Augusta Ackerman, 20, a former State hospital patient. His bond was set at $1,000.

Augusta Ackerman and Bill Anderson, larceny. She is charged with taking a billfold containing $140 from Fred Teske, Sterling, at the residence of Zona Steele, Lincoln avenue, Sept 9, and giving it to Anderson. Bond was set at $1,000 each.

Gunther M. Storbeck, larceny of a motor vehicle. He is charged with taking a car belonging to Jack Woodyatt on East River road in June. Bond was set at $1,000.

William Swain, Jr., assault. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

Transit Co. Sues

The Dixon Transit Company, Inc., today filed a complaint in Circuit court asking $2,000 damages from the Steel Transportation Company, Inc., Chicago, for damage done to one of the local transit company's buses in a collision at th corner of Galena avenue and River street May 9. The plaintiff also asks for a jury trial.

British Squatters Must Vacate Home Within Three Days

London, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The British government, acting in the face of threatened opposition by organized labor, obtained an interim injunction today against the invasion of government-vacated buildings in the spreading squatter movement.

The government brought four cases testing the rights of the squatters which would restrain them from entering, remaining in or otherwise trespassing on premises occupied in a Communist-sponsored invasion last week.

A writ was granted in the first of the proceedings, dealing with occupancy of the Duchess of Bedford apartments. The squatters were given three days to vacate the premises. Colin Pearson, attorney for the government, first had insisted they move within 48 hours.

Commenting on the evacuation order, the court observed:

"The defendants might well go quickly. They must have known from the beginning that their act was illegal."

The situation was quiet at squatter occupied buildings in London with police patrolling the grounds and squatters maintaining guards behind locked doors.

Telephone Operators Strike; Pana Emergency Lines Dead

Pana, Ill., Sept 17—(AP)—Telephone communication in Pana, Christian county city of 6,000, was cut off early today by a walkout of 16 telephone operators who said they expected switchboard girls in 27 other south central Illinois communities also would quit work.

A spokesman for the idle operators, employed by the Illinois Consolidated Telephone company, said they walked out at 12:01 a. m. (CST) because their wage contract expired Sept. 1 and negotiations with the company had failed to produce a new one.

Fire Chief Harry Vaughn said Pana was left without emergency telephone service. Reporters were unable to complete long distance calls to or from Pana early today

Demand Emergency Service

Mayor John Jones this morning wired O. E. Daggett, district manager at Taylorville:

"We are advised that striking operators are willing to furnish standby operators for emergency fire, police and medical calls. We demand that such srevice by operators be permitted and that emergency service be granted the city of Pana.

The chief operator at Mattoon, company headquarters, said there were no other immediate reports of shut-down exchanges. She said the operators at Pana and other company exchanges were affiliated with the Illinois Telephone Traffic Union (ind.)

Company and union officials could not be reached immediately for comment

Union Okays Walkout

The Pana operators spokesman, Miss Catherine Hughes, said the walkout had been authorized by top union officers. She gave no details of the dispute.

Other exchanges operated by the company are at Taylorville, Litchfield, Nokomis, Hillsboro, Mattoon, Charleston, Altamont, Beecher City, St. Elmo, Shelbyville and smaller communities in the area, the Mattoon chief operator said.

At Mattoon, union members said they were unaware of the Pana walkout and that an operators' union meeting had been called at Mattoon for Wednesday.

The Illinois Telephone Traffic union is affiliated with the National Federation of Telephone Employes. Its president is Mrs. Ann Benscoter, Peoria, and its attorney is Edwin R. Hackett, Chicago.

Announces Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Watson announce the engagement of their only daughter, Anita Mae, to Wesley C. Witt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Witt of Seymour, Wis. No date has been set for the wedding.

Anita is a graduate of the local high school and attended Francis Shimer junior college, and is enrolled at Cathage college, where she will be a member of the junior class. Her fiance is a graduate of Freedom high school. He spent nearly three years in the infantry, 31 months of which were spent in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre. He received an honorable discharge in December and now operates his farm near Appleton, Wis

Miss Esther Finley, daughter of Mrs. Robert Finley, of Bridgeport, Ill. became the bride of Donald Stengel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Stengel, of Mt. Morris, Thursday afternoon, Aug. 22 at 4:00 p.m. in the First Christian church of Bridgeport.

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Ridgely furnished the nuptial music. The Rev. P. A. Willis, pastor of the First Christian church assisted by Rev. M. E. Lesher of Iowa, uncle of the groom performed the impressive double ring ceremony. The ushers were Raymond Wilson, Robert Duncan, Lawrence Zumdahl and Willis Sutherland. The bridesmaids were: Lois Finley, Mary Ellen Stengel, and Martha Wilson. The maid of honor was Roberta Finley, the flower girl, Mary Ann Rigall and the ring bearer Steve Steve Joe Willis. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. E. Finley. Donald Sutherland sang, "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us," following the ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely white satin gown with train and finger tip veil. Her only ornaments were pearl earrings borrowed from her sister and a strand of pearls which was a gift of the groom. She carried an arm bouquet of dark pink roses which were fashioned around a lovely white orchid. The maid of honor was attired in a light blue sheer formal and carried a bouquet of pink roses and asters The bridesmaids dresses were made of pastel pink aqua and blue. Each carried an arm bouquet suitable for her dress. The flower girl wore a light yellow formal trimmed in blue velvet ribbon. The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with an orchid corsage while the groom's mother wore a black sheer with an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride for the wedding guests who had come from Iowa, Mt. Morris, Bement, Fairfield, Edwardsville, Lawrenceville and Bridgeport, Ill.

A three tiered cake on which rested a white wedding bell, and fruit punch were served to the guests. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stengel left for a wedding trip. Mrs. Stengel chose a white sheer wool drell with black accessories for her going away dress. Since Sept. 1 they have been at home north of Mt. Morris where the groom is engaged in farming with his father.

The bride is a graduate of the Bridgeport high school and has been popular in the younger circles of Bridgeport. Donald is a graduate of the Mt. Morris high school with the class of '42, and has been active in 4-H club work and is recognized as one of the community's most progressive farmers.

New Miracle Relief
FOR CRIPPLING PAINS DUE TO
ARTHRITIS and RHEUMATISM

"I couldn't believe it. The pain that had tortured and crippled me was gone! I had just about lost hope I would ever find real freedom from the terrible anguish I was suffering. Now those agonizing pains have been brought under control, and so quickly, I thought at first it must be a dream. But it wasn't a dream. It was true! How lucky for me, and the thousands of unfortunates like me, that the new formula known as EMDRIN, and the blessed, fast acting ingredient it contains, has been made available." That is the way the joyful victims of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago and neuralgia who have tried EMDRIN praise and recommend this amazing preparation, that so miraculously aids in giving almost unbelievable relief from the symptomatic pains resulting from these torturous ailments.

WONDER-WORKING EMDRIN INGREDIENT GOES TO WORK WITH MAGICAL SPEED!

For years laboratory scientists have been searching for an ingredient that would quickly, safely, effectively help to relieve the misery and discomfort of those who suffer from arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia. So effective, so potent is this amazing ingredient that it is acclaimed one of the new wonders of a new era in this type of treatment. It goes to work instantly and the quick relief it helps bring has been called sensational.

IMPORTANT! ONLY EMDRIN CONTAINS THIS AMAZING INGREDIENT

So you may be sure to get genuine Emdrin, tear out this message and show it to your druggist. You may try Emdrin without risking a penny. Taken as Directed, Emdrin must prove satisfactory or money will be refunded. Emdrin is sold at Villiger Ford Hopkins and drug stores everywhere

First Veterans' Store Draws Capacity Mob

New Orleans, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Throngs of bargain-hunting GI's and their relatives crowded the nation's first department store operated exclusively for veterans here yesterday and bought surplus goods without red tape.

The store, a novel idea of the War Assets Administration, was initiated by the administration, to get the goods before the veterans. The purchasers had only to show their official papers to enter.

Two hours after the opening estimates placed the number of persons entering the big store on the Lake Pontchartrain front at nearly 3,000.

The veterans were permitted to purchase at greatly-reduced prices any amount of goods desired, such as hardware, toiletries, stationery supplies, jewelry, household articles, dry goods and clothing. White shirts were selling for less than $2.

There are 16,598 cities in the United States, of which 1505 are served directly by air lines.

New Zealand Vets Opposed to Bretton Woods Agreement

Auckland, New Zealand, Sept. 17.—(AP) — Opposition to the ratification by the New Zealand parliament of the Breton Woods agreement is becoming louder in New Zealand.

Following criticism of the agreement by the leader of the House of Representatives Syd G. Holland, two government backbenchers spoke strongly against ratification. Now a conference of ex-servicemen of the Auckland province has raised its voice in criticism.

The conference carried a resolution that "to protect the future of the returned servicemen, to ensure the rights of the people of New Zealand and the progress of the British Empire, the Bretton Woods monetary agreement be not ratified."

Speakers contended that the agreement contravened the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

The conference decided that steps should be taken to inform the public of the implications of the Bretton Woods agreement, and to ask the government for a referendum of electors on the subject.

Francis Drew Owns Old Family Homestead Farm

Francis J. Drew has purchased the family farm and homestead located in Ogle county, near the Lee county line, north of Dixon and west of the Lowell park road. Mr. and Mrs. Drew plan to make some extensive improvements on the place and make it their home.

The farms, which comprises about 200 acres, has been in the family for close upon a century. The present owner's father, G. W. Drew, lived on it for 65 years and the original Drew, his father, settled on the land in an early day and cleared the timber from the land for farming.

PUBLIC SALE OF FARMLAND

SALE WILL BEGIN AT 2 P. M. Daylight Time

1½ MILES SOUTHEAST OF POLO IN OGLE CO., ILLINOIS

FRIDAY, SEPT. 20

Prairie Land Farm of 247 Acres

Buffalo Township, Ogle County, Illinois, is conceded to have some of the finest prairie farm land in Illinois, and the land known for many years as "The Wisner Farm" is some of the best. It is a rare occasion when this good prairie land comes on the market. You can count on the fingers of one hand the number of sales of this top land made in the last 5 years in Buffalo Township. The most of it you could not buy at any price; it is only rarely offered for sale. The 247 acres to be sold Sept. 20 at the premises 1½ miles southeast of Polo will be offered in two tracts, one of 167 acres, the other of 80 acres, then it will be offered as a whole. Even if you do not want to buy it, come and see it sold.

This land consists of gently rolling brown silt loam divided into 8 fields and a deep blue grass pasture along a very small creek which arises from a tile across the road. This pastureland could be mostly cultivated but it has been permanent for years and each season produces vast quantities of succulent pasture. Of the 8 fields, 7 have been limed and two have been phosphated. Seven of the inside fences are brand new and one line fence is new, all with creosoted posts, steel posts and woven wire. Lanes make it possible to pasture every field on the farm except one. Improvements consists of two sets of buildings, one on the 167 acres and one on the 80 acres. On the 167 acres is a 52x54 barn once used as a horse barn; corn crib, 14x48 ft. with 14 ft. driveway, overhead granary, and including an outside elevator; cattle barn 60x70 feet with inside feed troughs; another cattle barn 48x80 in a stone yard; 14-pen hog house and large concrete feeding floor with both building and floor attached to the corn crib for convenience; concrete stave silo, 14x35 ft.; machine shed 20x50; garage; chicken house; new 6 in. well 374 feet deep with pressure system furnishes never failing water supply; 8-room house. All of these buildings are in good repair and painted with these exceptions: the chicken house and garage are not too good, and the house is an old one but is livable. On the 80-acre tract is a chicken house, smoke house, 54x62 ft. barn with feeding cattle facilities; and a 7-room house.

If you are looking for good prairie land, you must see this 247-acre farm located in the heart of Buffalo Township. It is located just 1½ miles from Polo Community high school, one of the best in the state and the same distance from Polo, a fine trading and community center for farmers from a wide area. You could not ask for a better location, either for a home or for an investment for your money. Dollars may fluctuate and change but good land intelligently handled continues the safest investment in the world. You are at liberty to visit the farm before the sale day to look it over or you can come during the morning of the sale day.

Of Interest To Farmers

Digest of the News for Poultry Raisers
A Weekly Letter by Frank Priebe

Dear Friends

Do you remember how the planners in the Department of Agriculture beat the drums last January and February for fewer chicks? "Seventeen per cent less than last year ... 17 per cent less"—over and over again.

Then, and for months afterwards, I kept saying I thought any farmer who had the feed should raise all the chickens he could that he would have a good market for them.

And what's happened?

The "meat famine" is headlined in papers all over the country. And to people who live in the cities it's very real. There is simply no red meat in the butchers' counters. Women are frantically trying to buy some kind of meat for their families. And what's the answer?

Chicken! Turkey! Eggs!

Thank goodness for poultry! That's the general reaction.

The huge storage stocks of eggs and poultry, particularly turkeys are beginning to melt away under the heaviest demand we've ever known.

Turkey growers, who have been a little worried about what they'd get for their turkeys this fall, can relax. They'll bring a good price.

Orderly Marketing Needed

The price of chickens, which dropped when ceilings were lifted has come back. Your chickens are now bringing as much and in many cases, more than they have for years.

I'm only hoping that eager buyers don't bid the price up so much that the government will step in again with price controls. That's the danger now.

It can be avoided I think, if poultry is marketed in a normal orderly fashion. If people hold the chickens for still higher prices, they are likely to defeat their own aim because forcing the market too high will only invite re-control and sharp cuts in price.

We'll be wise to keep our heads and be satisfied with the profit we have in chickens at present prices.

There's good money in them.

Just the other day I saw the record kept by a 4-H club boy in Iowa. It was complete to the last penny. Last spring he got 400 chicks. And today—after paying for the chicks, litter, fuel and all their feed—he is $240.06 to the good. That's 60 cents profit per bird!

I don't know whether all you older folks have done as well or not! But the opportunity was there.

To the folks who made the most of it this has been another banner year.

Sincerely,

FRANK PRIEBE

Polo Farmer Winner in Conservation Event

Winners in the conservation contest were presented awards at the field day on the Fred Borneman farm near Leaf River, Thursday. John Thomas, district director, discussed the contest and gave the successful participants their prizes. He said that sixty-two entries were judged.

Clarence Moeller, Polo, won first place for the best farm plan and was awarded a rubber-tired farm wagon. John Wire, Forreston was second in this class and Lawrence Hall Lindenwood, third. Ernest Schmidt of Polo received an award for having the best strip cropping system. Harlow Hills of Oregon was second and Frank Floto of Dixon, third. In the competition for the best permanent pasture John Wire received the first prize, John Wilson of Leaf River was second and Harold Graf Oregon, was given the third place award.

Arnold P. Benson chairman, state conservation districts board, made the principal address of the day. He commented on the importance of the district program and reported on the program of such organization throughout the state.

A large crowd of farmers watched the pasture renovation demonstration. Several different machines were used by farm equipment dealers to prepare the pasture for reseeding. Professor J. C. Hackleman, extension agronomist, discussed pasture management.

The district directors expressed their appreciation for the contributions of all the people who helped to make the contest and field day successful. Everyone interested in land within the district is invited to participate in the program.

The number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 corn-belt states on Aug. 1 1946 was 45 per cent smaller than on the same date a year earlier. This is the sharpest decrease in August numbers ever recorded.

State AAA Group on Phosphate Rule

The state A. A. A. committee has ruled that the practices of applying rock and superphosphate can be substituted one for the other provided proper land use is made of the practice.

In the spring a number of farmers were approved for the application of rock phosphate which could be applied to any crop. The rules have been changed so that payment can be made if superphosphate was applied to old or new seeding and the seeding is not plowed under before January 1, 1947.

If a farm was approved for superphosphate and rock phosphate was applied, payment can now be made on the rock phosphate. While the change provides for the substitution of superphosphate for rock phosphate or rock phosphate for superphosphate it does not provide for substitution of other practices.

A number of farmers called at the county A. A. A. office during August who had been approved for rock phosphate and had applied superphosphate or had been approved superphoshate and had applied phosphate. They were advised they could not receive payment for the substituted practice. The change now authorizes payment on this substitution and those farmers should call at the county office with their evidence any time after September 25 1946 and have their performance report changed.

If a farm was approved for rock superphosphate, payment will not be made if potash or limestone was applied without prior approval.

Farm Loan Group Declares Dividend

The board of directors of the Lee County Farmers National Farm Loan Association of Amboy has declared a dividend of 5 per cent to its member-stockholders of record at the close of business on May 31 1946 according to an announcement by L. S. Griffith, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Mr. Griffith explained that the Lee County Farmers National Farm Loan Association is a local farmers cooperative that makes long-term Land Bank loans in Lee county. The association stock is owned by the members and the payment of this dividend represents a saving to the members in the cost of their land bank loans.

The local association has a membership of 360 farmers with a total of $3,500,000 in outstanding mortgage loans. Last year the association paid a dividend of 5 per cent to its members. The management of the association is vested in the board of directors elected by the members. The present officers are:

Farm Income Up Over First War, Survey Reveals

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 17.—High farm earnings continued longer and reached greater heights during World War II than during World War I on accounting farms in east-central Illinois.

J. B. Cunningham, University of Illinois farm management specialist, who has prepared a comparative report covering the two World War periods points out that this is the only area in the state with adequate records for the 30-year period. Earnings in the area are indicative of those for the state of Illinois.

Earnings were more fully realized in cash, as indicated by higher cash balances during the recent war than during World War I. More available cash resulted in the retirement of many farm mortgages and in the accumulation of cash reserves, which may foreshadow inflationary dangers especially in the land market.

Affecting earnings was the 32 per cent increase in average size of farm from 200 acres in 1916-20 to 265 acres in 1941-45.

The additional acres, while not necessarily increasing the net income per acre added volume to the business and resulted in larger incomes per farm during World War II than during World War I. The change in size was due primarily to the introduction of improved machinery, which allowed the same amount of labor to handle more acres.

During the 30 years 1916-45, inventories increased in 19 years and decreased in 11, all but two of the decreases were between 1919 and 1932, following World War I. Increased inventories since 1933 were caused by larger production and higher prices. A reversal of the trends in these two items would immediately be reflected in lower farm earnings.

Unpaid labor of the operator and other members of his family increased from $360 in 1916 to $951 in 1927, decreased to $664 in 1940 and then increased to $1,638 in 1945. During these years the amount of unpaid labor varied little, but the value varied with changes in going rates for hired labor.

The value of farm products used in the household an item of great importance in less commercialized areas, varied from year to year, depending principally on price changes. The average was $322 compared to $423 in 1945.

Including in the net earnings are (1) cash balance, (2) inventory change, (3) value of farm porducts used in household, and (4) value of unpaid labor. Items above the line in the accompanying chart are additions, those below the line are deductions.

For example, in 1940 the value of unpaid labor and the decrease in inventory, totaling $718, were subtracted from the sum of the cash balance and the value of farm products used in the household totaling $3,943. Thus the net farm income was $3,225 or $12.13 an acre. The annual net income per acre is shown by the black line.

A summary of information relative to farm earnings in individual counties and groups of counties appears in the July-August issue of Illinois Farm Economics. This report may be obtained without cost by writing to the College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

The 513 million pounds of milk produced on Illinois farms during July was 7 per cent below the July 1945 output, but 5 per cent more than the July average for the past 10 years.

Treatment of infectious abortion among swine has proved ineffective and the use of vaccines has to date proved to be of little value.

In 1869, the Illinois legisuature passed an act requiring owners of threshing and other machines to guard against accidents.

Turning legumes and grasses into silage is a good way to expand their use.

The Honey Bee Act providing for the governing of importation of adult honey bees into the U. S. was passed Aug. 31, 1922.

Horses may be treated with phenothiazine for strongyles, but not for large roundworms or bots.

A Thought for Today

Psychiatric Prescription

Psychiatrists keep insisting that what this sick world needs is a large dose of their medicine. And we've been inclined to agree with the general idea, whatever its practical difficulties.

After all, maybe our nervous, contentious, jittery world, with all its political tensions, is only reflecting the nerves and jitters of millions of its citizens. Cure the individual psychoses and, who knows, perhaps the world psychosis would be licked.

Thus we thought. But our conversion has been symied by reading some words of disdom spoken at the American Psychological Association's 54th meeting in Philadelphia. There the delegates were, faced with the challenging opportunity of promoting world peace by promoting mental and emotional health. But what did they say to each other in the hour of crisis's Here are some samples:

A lady psychiatrist from Detroit said that children of the middle classes suck their thumbs more than children of the poor.

A lady psychiatrist from California—one of the few adults who speak and understand bobby-sox English—said that teen-agers' double-talk not only serves as a means of mystic communication but is also used "to release tensions, bolster the ego and channel aggression."

A New York psychiatrist (male announced the startling discovery, a year after the war, that heroes get scared, too.

Another New Yorker said that people ought to go to more prize fights to release war-born aggressiveness and cut down crime.

So, aided by these pearls of wisdom, let us construct a model citizen for our brave new psychoanalyzed world, and see what happens.

Our citizen is born in a tenement, and shows an early disinclination for thumb-sucking. But his class-conscious mother fixes that by baiting the thumb from the family's meager store of sugar (over protest of the old man, who likes two spoons in his coffee), thus assuring that her little one will present an outward appearance of middle-class affluence to the neighbors

In young manhood he learns the language which brings brimming self-confidence and freedom from tensions He calls his father a square, his mother a drip, and has christened little sister Mousemeat.

With aggression properly channeled through slang, he goes to college intent on playing football. But in his first game he is petrified by fright. When the center snaps him the ball he takes one look at the oncoming tacklers and rushes madly toward the wrong goal-line. Cheering throngs pour out of the stands and bear him away on their shoulders. For they, being psychologically hep, also know that fright is a true and typical mark of the hero.

A grave crisis marks his mature life. He feels an urge for crime. But he knows the remedy—a boxing match. Unfortunately, he chooses the second Louis-Conn fight, for which he pays $100 for a ticket. And unfortunately, the psychiatric prescription doesn't work. As he watches the waltzing gladiators he becomes a bundle of tension and aggressiveness, with a y en for mayhem.

The last we see of him he has torn off one of the ring posts and is chasing Promoter Mike Jacobs up the aisle with it.

News behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

New York, Sept. 16. — The Maine election did not say anything very loud. Maine was quite content to remain wholly Republican by just about the usual majorities. Certain masters in political finesse are trying to prove by percentages of the votes two years ago, as measured against those last week, that perhaps one Republican candidate is 6 percent or so less popular than then. But two years ago was a presidential election year — furthermore a Roosevelt election year — and presidential years affect the state averages abnormally. If the results were compared with four years ago, the averages would be about the same. So all you may safely say is that Maine itself is about the same, politically.

Some careful checking by certain politicians indicates an entirely different condition in some key states around the country. A strong Republican resurgence is noticeable to the expert eye in Massachusetts, New York and Kentucky, and rather definitely indicates the Republicans could sweep those highly important territories if the election was held today.

Now I have seen elections thoroughly won in September which were lost in November, but here is some of the inside data picked up by an objective reporter traveling around the country, seeing people who know.

The most significant election event in New York, largest state of the Union, was generally unreported. It was the departure of Jim Farley, the Democratic dabbler, on some Cocoa-Cola business or other around the entire world. He left last week. What he told some friends before his departure will not be written on Democratic campaign posters. Obviously he wanted no part of it, not liking Mead, the Democratic candidate against Dewey.

Scouts tell me the governorship race was handed gratuitously to Dewey when the communist party withdrew all candidates except one minor candidate, in favor of the Democratic slate. Mead has disavowed this support but the question is how many voters also will disavow it. As Dewey already has up-state Republicans in line, he stands a chance to acquire unusual anti-communist support in the city.

New York Democrats were better satisfied with the nomination of former Governor Lehman for the senate. This is due, in part, to the fact that LaGuardia did not get the nomination. Odds favor the popular Lehman over the Dewey-picked Republican candidate who is not widely known, although the campaign may prove tiresome to Lehman.

In Massachusetts, Democrats would do well today to save the governorship Although some published accounts say there will be no change. Democratic Senator David I. Walsh is in dire peril, and a ballot at once might sweep the congressional delegation of all save three Democratic seats or so—sensational though this result would be. The final campaign may upset this trend, but the successful Maine Republican candidates are being rushed down for speeches into Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and it is rather obvious the Republicans are making a better show of it this year.

A private political poll of Kentucky shows a prospective majority of 15,000 to 25,000 votes for the Republican senatorial candidate John Copper. This report suggests soldiers and farmers are particularly dissatisfied with the administration and have indicated opposition to the Democratic candidate John Young Brown. Indeed some suggestions are being authentically made that the entire Republican ticket will run higher than has been expected.

In these three states in recent years, the Democrats have been very strong. The parties indeed have been more or less evenly divided. If the detailed information concerning them has any counterpart in the rest of the country, Mr. Truman has a lot of work to do before election day.

Hold Two New Suspects In Slaying of Nurse

Indianapolis, Sept. 17—(AP)—Police held two new suspects today in the slaying of Miss Alberta Green, 22-year-old nurse from Mt. Carmel, Ill., who was bludgeoned to death last week in a hospital at the Indiana University medical center.

One was a dark-skinned white man who, officers said, admitted familiarity with the medical center grounds. The other man told officers he had seen Miss Green's slayer hiding in a tree the night of the murder, but he said he did not know the killer's identity.

Officers admitted they had nothing definite to link the two suspects with the slaying.

The slayer also clubbed Miss Betty Overdeer, 20, of Indianapolis, another student nurse, and injured her seriously.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York, Sept 16—Beneath all the issues of wages and hours, of price control and wage stabilization, of racketeering and communism in the union movement, the damned fact that is responsible for the paralysis of industry is that ugly monument to the pride of an old Tammany machine politician, the labor relations law.

Senator Robert F. Wagner could have averted most of the tragedy to the people of the United States that has been caused by these strikes which today have retarded recovery by a year, had he been willing to admit in time that experience had proved that his law was a monstrosity. President Roosevelt, of course, was at fault, but the correction of the evil conditions established by the Wagner act would have followed immediately if Senator Wagner, himself, ever had admitted that he was wrong.

Not long after the unions began their campaign of violence and other outrage against not only the peace of communities but the civic and human rights of the individual American, I perceived that the bosses of the unions were, at worst, mere protegees of a vicious and reckless organization of political adventurers. To be sure, when the CIO was being organized in Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, amid tumult and terror I would have advocated the indictment and prosecution on state charges of John L. Lewis and a number of utterly brutal boss-thugs who terrorized helpless cities. But Roosevelt patronized and encouraged these men, as Mrs. Frances Perkins, his Secretary of Labor at the time, recently admitted in a side-long way in her memoirs. The moral effect alone of this partnership between a president and marauding gangs with known Stalinsts acting as sergeants, was a general surrender by the people of old liberties and ideals and the impairment of their citizenship. In the past, corporations had imported gangs of sluggers to break strikes, by breaking up their meetings and beating up pickets. This practice had been outlawed to the extent that espionage against unions and the interestate transportation of strikebreakers were forbidden. But, at the same time, unions, which had no substance and pretended to be voluntary associations were invited to use, against all whom they opposed, including workers, the very methods of violence which the Roosevelt government had condemned. The Wagner act and the labor relations board, deliberately packed with Stalinist enemies of the United States, encouraged rioters, racketeers and highway robbers and the supreme court protected them by a series of decisions. There was no word of protest from Senator Wagner.

Roosevelt flippantly remarked that when a gang of vandals seized an automobile factory, destroyed materials and equipment of enormous value, beat up citizens going to their lawful employment and refused to obey court orders, they were guilty of nothing worse than trespass, malicious mischief, assault and contempt of court, and admitted it would be impossible to convict the individuals of even those petty offenses. That these organized assaults on popular government were insurrections he would not admit until he was preparing for a war which he anticipated even while he denied that he did. Only then did he call out the army to break up a picket line and permit workers to build planes for the British. When pickets embarrassed his own plans that was violent insurrection.

I have said that Jimmy Petrillo and I were friends. We are friends. He is a smart, hard-working, alert union executive. His union constitution is a dictatorship. His methods are outrageous and should be unlawful. But Petrillo is paid to run his union as he sees fit and the Wagner act gives him all the powers that he has exercised. If those powers violate the rights of the community the fault is not Petrillo's The fault is Senator Wagner's. So also, the national maritime union has a right to dictate foreign policy and involve us in war by refusing to sail freight to Spain or the Argentine. The AFL sailors likewise have a right to refuse to carry freight to Yugoslavia because their union fights communism and Marshal Tito is a Stalinist dictator

I may point out brutalities in the teamsters union and the regal status of Dan Tobin, its president. It is wrong, it is immoral, to compel a good man to work for the same pay that is provided by law for a loafer who provokes a strike to throw hundreds or hundreds of thousands onto the unemployment rolls. But the Wagner act created these conditions with a pious pretense that its only purpose was to enable workers to bargain through agents of their own free selection.

It is pathetic that a few thousand teamsters should paralyze New York, or a few thousand sailors the sea-borne commerce of the United States. But the Wagner act conferred on a few union officials, with sufficient personal force to dominate their unions, the power to throw all the workers in the United States into idleness. This is not a theory but a legal fact. Wagner's law tied up the automobile industry so that all but a tiny fraction of the year's production has been lost since V-J Day. His law enabled John L. Lewis, alone, to cripple most of our industries for an immeasurable time by a coal miners strike. The men who ran these and other strikes contributing to the present desperate situation only exercised powers given them by Senator Wagner's law. The danger to the nation never will be lifted until the law is changed.

Polish Anti-Nazi Head Under Arrest by Army

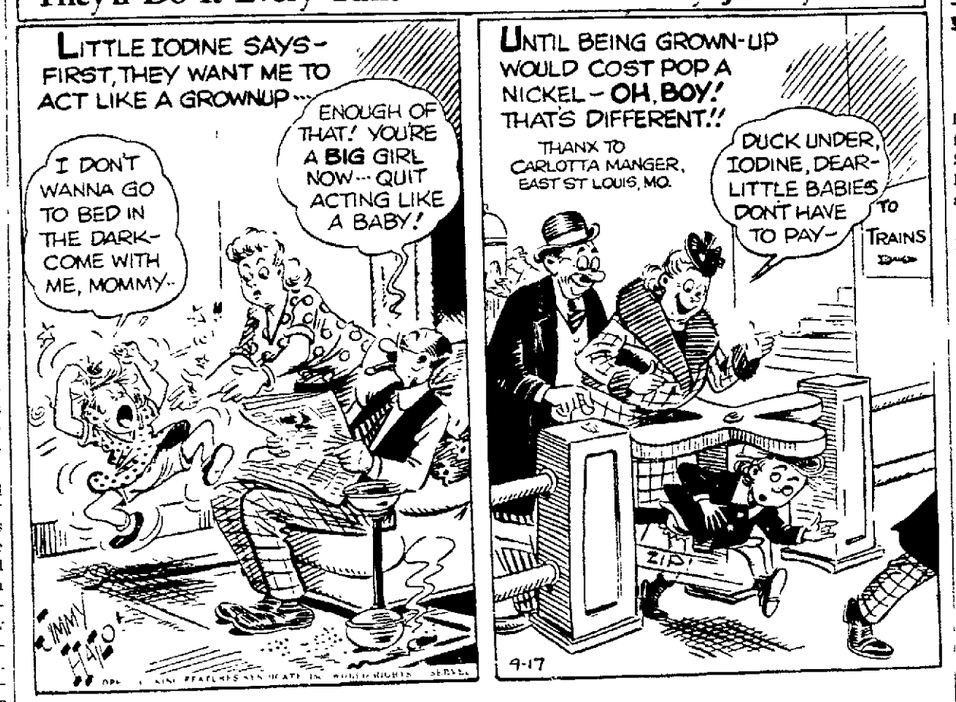

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept 16—(AP)—American troops who raided a Polish displaced persons camp at Wetzlar have broken up a gang of looters, black marketeers and bootleggers whose leader alone is suspected of killing 43 Germans and three Americans, the U. S constabulary announced today.

Sixty persons were arrested. The leader identified only as a Pole named Ballon who said to have sworn vengeance on Germans for the slaughter of his parents and three brothers by Nazis in Poland, with an announced goal of killing 10 Germans for every member of his family.

Ballon, constabulary officers said, boasted that he would escape and kill a lieutenant of the U. S military police—whom he wounded in the hand with gunfire a week ago—and a captain in the U. S military government. He tried to escape by leaping from a second-story window, but was recaptured.

German police and UNRRA officials cooperated with constabulary and infantry troops in the raid.

The "average" meteor is probable no larger than a pinhead.

XXV

"SO now you're a follower of Florence Nightingale?" he said. "A noble profession, indeed. I might even add the noblest profession for a woman."

Before I could answer, Ellen was back again with whiskey and hot water, which Colin received with delighted thanks, suggesting that we join him in a toast. But he was still shivering and Cousin Ellen hovered about anxiously, begging him to take care of himself.

I was suddenly furious.

Ellen was a poor, half-sick woman herself and should be in bed, instead of worrying over him, and he was a stubborn fool. And I was no longer just little Celia who helped out in the kitchen. I was a graduate nurse with quite a bit of nursing experience and I was not going to stand weakly by while Ellen took cold again and Colin laughingly developed pneumonia.

"Go back to bed at once, Ellen," I said with an unheard-of note of authority in my voice that, startled, she obeyed me.

And carried away by my success with Ellen, I dared speak to Colin with the same note of authority.

"You're going to get out of those clothes and into dry ones," I told him. "And I'm going to take your temperature."

He was intensely amused, his dark eyes dancing.

"By heaven," he said, "you've got plenty of spirit, haven't you? How I love a woman with spirit!" He came toward me. "I can't believe it. Little Saint Cecelia!"

I did not answer him. I got my thermometer and, surprisingly enough, he let me take his temperature, though he continued to treat it all as a huge joke.

He had more than a touch of fever, as I had feared, but when I ordered him to bed, he laughed again. And then, taking me suddenly in his arms, he kissed me.

I SLAPPED him, hard. I did not say, "How dare you?" (Does anyone ever really say that, I wonder?) But I did slap him, and he was delighted. He kissed me again. And all at once his arms loosed their hold on me. He staggered over to the big leather chair and fell into it, breathing heavily. And the next moment he was lying across the chair arm, unconscious.

I stood staring at him stupidly for a moment, my heart beating madly, my lips still warm from his kisses. Then, thoroughly aroused and horrified, I flew up the stairs to waken Mark.

It took me a little while to make him understand what had happened, he had been so deeply asleep and he had heard nothing, but when he finally realized what I was trying to tell him, he came down at once And between us we got Colin to bed.

I was reminded sharply of that night five years before, as we went up the stairs, and I imagined that Mark was also.

He was quite alarmed, however, at Colin's condition now. There was no doubt in our minds that Colin must have been exposed to the storm for several hours.

By the time we got him to bed, with plenty of blankets over him, he was delirious and Mark left me to call the doctor. And then, to our consternation and true to Ellen's prediction, we found that we were cut off from the town. The wires were down and we had no way of contacting anyone. Mark insisted at first that he go for the doctor himself, but I feared he wouldn't be able to make it and I told him it would be best for him to stay where he could assist me, if I needed him. And, strangely enough, he abided by my decision.

* * *

MY position in the household was changed from then on. Both Mark and Ellen deferred to me as having more knowledge of what to do in this emergency. For the storm continued, developing into a blizzard, and it was a full week before Father Gene and the doctor could get through to us.

And Colin contracted pneumonia.

He was very ill and, naturally, the entire care of him fell upon me. And I knew then that if he died, part of me would die, also. I had assured myself that these years, while I grew from child to woman and dedicated myself to my work at the hospital, had made me forget my childish admiration for this man. But now I knew that nothing would ever make me forget him. I had been fooling myself all this time. One glimpse of him in the doorway that night had shattered any illusions I might have to the contrary.

I was mad about him.

Sometimes during the long hours of the nights, while I kept my vigil beside Colin, I felt frightened and forlorn. I was so very young, only 23, after all, though I knew myself to be older in many ways than most girls of my age There was such a responsibility weighing on me, such anxiety, such a dread that I might fail to do everything that could be done to save him. And then, at other times, I felt ageless, and I seemed to float through my day in a semi-conscious state.

There was a night when he seemed to be on fire, when his pulse was so feeble that I was sure he was all but gone, that he could not possibly live till morning.

I was lightheaded that night, certainly, and I sat by the bed in such a stupor of weariness that I must have been overcome for a while For the next thing I remember the sound of Colin's voice was in my ears and Mark and Ellen were in the room.

Colin, in his mind, was a child again back in Ireland, his voice going on and on, calling to his mother and to his brother Mark, his wonderful older brother, who could do everything so much better than anyone else.

SOCIETY

St. James Mission Society in Meeting

The September meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the St. James church was held at the home of Mrs. Wolfrom Thursday afternoon with 11 members and three visitors present. Beautiful gladioli gracefully decorated the room.

The meeting was opened by the vice-president, Mrs. Henry Johns, and all sang "Give of Your Best to the Master". Scripture reading, 149th Psalm was given by Miss Mandana Green, minutes were read and approved, dues were paid and subscriptions taken for the missionary magazine. Items from the paper were read by Mrs. Green. Instead of the usual book report, a very interesting report was given by Mrs. Clarence Bothe, the missionary delegate to the conference.

Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. Edna Topper and Mrs. Wiley Shippert were appointed as the committee for the annual missionary tea.

The meeting was closed with the Lord's prayer, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

PALMYRA HOME BUREAU MEETS

The Palmyra unit Home Bureau met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marie McCoy, 1516 West First St., with 24 members and one guest present. Mrs. Raymond Hodges conducted the business meeting, and Mrs. John Fassler read the history of "Home Sweet Home", after which the group sang three stanzas. It was decided to hold a rummage sale and bazaar in the near future, and a committee was appointed to seek a suitable place.

It was announced that all interested in the glove demonstration meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Metz Sept. 26 for an all-day meeting. The new books for the year were distributed, and Mrs. Herlin, home advisor, gave the major lesson on top-of-the-stove utensils. Miss Anza Lawton gave the minor lesson on enriched bread. After adjournment, a sale for Christmas cards and wrappings was held.

PALMYRA GRANGE HAS ENJOYABLE MEETING

Fifty members attended the business meeting held in Palmyra hall Sept. 13. A short program was announced by Beth Buehler, and readings on safety were given by several members, after which a discussion on safety was held. Two trombone solos by Receben Levan were presented, and the Grange announced that it will sponsor a flower show Sept. 27 in which the community is invited to participate.

Jordan Grange has sent an invitation to Palmyra Grange to attend its booster meeting Sept. 26, and Milledgeville also has sent an invitation to its meeting Sept. 18.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. William Castle and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Howell.

HOLD QUIET WEDDING

Grace Hazelwood and Gifford Fordham were wed Saturday evening in a quiet ceremony at the Rev. Thompson home. The couple had as their attendants the bridegroom's sister, Mildred Bain, and Darwin Reed. They are residing at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fordham of 908 Woodlawn Ave.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reilly, 810 Peoria Ave., are announcing the engagement of their elder daughter, Elizabeth, to George L. Robertson Jr., son of Attorney and Mrs. G. L. Robertson of Fort Worth, Texas.

Betty, a graduate of Dixon high school, attended the College of St. Catherine at St. Paul, Minn., and received her degree in education from the National College of Education in Evanston in 1944. For the past two years, she has been teaching on the west coast at Portland, Ore., and Long Beach, Calif. At present she is employed in the psychology department of the Dixon state hospital.

Mr. Robertson received his bachelor's degree from the University of Texas in 1943 and served three years as a Lieutenant (jg) in the U. S. Navy in the Pacific theater of operations. He has returned to the University of Texas to study law. The wedding will take place in December.

LOCAL D. OF U. V. IN MEETING THURSDAY

The Anna Kellogg Baker tent No. 8, Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, held its regular meeting in the GAR hall Thursday.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ethel de Baufer at 2:30 to a good attendance. General orders were read and tent No. 8 received an invitation to attend a reception in honor of Mrs. Harriett Gould, the Illinois department president of the D. of U. V. at the Washington Hotel in Chicago. The DUV district meeting will be held in Dixon in October The newly-appointed special aides are Ethel de Baufer and Maude Kime. Refreshments were served after the meeting closed and a social hour was enjoyed. The next meeting will be the fourth Thursday in September at 2:30.

CIRCLE THREE MEETS

Circle three of the Methodist WSCS held its first meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles Crombie at Nelson. A scramble dinner was served, after which business was transacted. Mrs. E. M. Greene had charge of the devotions and Mrs. E. J. Randall conducted the program.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MISS RUTH DOWNEY

A bridal shower was given at the home of Mrs. Thomas Long and Mrs. John Burke in Harmon for Miss Ruth Downey last Wednesday. Miss Downey is to become the bride of Emmett Long on Sept. 21.

The red and white kitchen shower found the kitchen gaily decorated and the favors following in the bride's colors, pink and white, with multi-colored gladioli abounding. Games of "fifty" were played during the evening, the winner being Miss Josephine Walters. Second prize went to Mrs. LeRoy Henry. After refreshments were served, the many useful gifts were then from their packages. Those present were Mrs. Fred Schlipp, Mrs. Frank Walters, Miss Josephine Walters, Mrs. Gertrude McInerney, Mrs. Edward Garland, Mrs. William Dunphy, Mrs. Margaret Burke, Miss Dorothy Krebs, Mrs. Richard Henkel, Mrs. Ben Jeanblanc, Mrs. Leo Downey, Mrs. Thomas Long, Mrs. John Burke and the honoree.

SO. DIXON COMMUNITY CLUB

The South Dixon Community club will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser at 2:00 o'clock.

Hickok Society in Trip to Troy Grove

The Hickok Society of the Childre nof the American Revolution made a pilgrimage Saturday, Sept. 15, to Troy Grove, Illinois, birthplace of James Butler Hickok ("Wild Bill") for whom their society was named.

A picnic lunch held in the Hickok Memorial Park was enjoyed by the 19 members and their guests.

Following their luncheon the meeting was called to order by the Junior President, Wayne Thomas, while the members were seated on the lawn in front of the lovely Hockok monument placed there by the state of Illinois.

Mrs. George Lindquest, the Senior President, announced that the society had won a cash prize awarded for having the most members present at the eighth annual state convention held in Rock Island, Ill. last June.

Following the meeting Mrs. Grover Gehant read a very interesting resume of the life and background of ancestry of the famous Wild Bill, whose grandfather, Aaron Hickok, was given land in what is now Hartford, Conn. for his services as a soldier in the Revolution, and whose father Oliver Otis Hickok, who was a hero of the Battle of Plattsburg in the War of 1812. Mrs. Gehant also told the history of the State of Illinois' appropriation of money, purchase of the site of the birthplace, and erection of this monument as a Hickok Memorial.

During the program the members were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hickok of Troy Grove, the former being a nephew of Wild Bill. They cordially extended an invitation to the children to visit their home to view some of the relics which had belonged to his famous uncle. The children were delighted, not only to see, but to hold in their own hands one of Wild Bill's six shooters and the small dagger with which he had killed a grizzly bear that had attacked him.

The host and hostess committee for the meeting were Frederic, Jeanne and Richard Johnston, Lee and Gretchin Pana, Dessa Sue and Linda Lou Trautwein.

SERVICE MOTHERS

The Service Mothers organization will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow at the G. A. R. hall, and a rag-sewing bee will be held. Anyone having material is requested to bring it. A scramble dinner will be held at 12:00, picnic rules prevailing, and a business meeting will be at 2:30. The rag-sewing will begin at 9:30.

BETA SIGMA PHI

The president Mildred Shanahan called the meeting of Illinois, Gamma Mu Chapter, No. 1159 to order on September 12 at her home with members reciting the Opening Ritual.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was then presented.

Various suggestions were submitted in regard to the regular party held for new pledges. Each members present suggested at least one name pertaining to new pledges.

Changes of addresses were then brought before the group.

A very interesting letter received by one of the Chapter's members, Mid Reed stationed overseas, was read by Edith Pollock.

The meeting ended with the members reciting the Closing Ritual in unison.

HOSTESS AT DINNER

Mrs. Edward Craft of Route 30 was hostess at a dinner party on Friday in honor of Mrs. W. D. Milliken, who was celebrating her birthday. After a delicious dinner, Mrs. Milliken opened the gifts, and the rest of the afternoon was one of merriment and singing of old-time songs. A very delightful time was had by those present, which included besides the hostess and honoree: Mesdames Kirby Reed, Peter Snyder, Charles Ports, Mary Storms, Miss Hazel Rust, of Dixon, and Mrs. Edith Yanda, of Milwaukee.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Gleim celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday, Sept. 8 at their home east of Franklin Grove. Fifty guests called during the afternoon and were graciously served cake and punch by their niece, Phyllis Gleim, of Dixon. Mrs. Tony Reinhart had charge of greeting the guests and Miss Kathryn Fuestman had charge of the guest book. Mrs. Gleim was wearing a beautiful corsage of white gardenias for the occasion, and the couple received many beautiful cards from their guests.

At noon a delicious dinner was served to the many friends and relatives.

CORRECTION

In the flower show results the third prize winner in exhibit 1 in flower arrangements was Mrs. Charles W. Brink, instead of Mrs. E. V. Brink.

HAS LUNCHEON GUESTS

Mrs. Warren G. Murray entertained guests at luncheon Saturday at the Pines state park in honor of Mrs. R. L. Kittle, of LaGrange.

YOUNG WOMEN'S GUILD

The Young Women's Guild of the Methodist church will hold its first meeting of the 1946-1947 year on Thursday evening. The group will meet for a picnic supper at Robert Warner's cottage in Grand Detour. Rev. and Mrs. Merrill Tope and Rev. and Mrs. Merle Hall will be guests at this first meeting. The highlight of the evening will be an impressive installation service for the new officers of the ensuing year. All Guild members are urged to attend the meeting.

P. T. A. TO MEET

The board of the South Central P.-T. A. will meet at the school Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30. The board comprises all officers and heads of committees of the association.

VISITORS FROM CUBA

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Hey have enjoyed a visit from their daughter and son-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. George McClain Rodgers of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Mrs. Rodgers, the former Helen Henry, made the trip by ship to New York, and left Friday morning by plane for Miami to return to Cuba.

Also visiting here are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Matheson, who returns to Champaign next week to resume work at the University of Illinois.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET

The Retired Teachers club will meet at the home of C. H. Russell, 522 N. Galena avenue, Wednesday evening. A very fine program is arranged.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Indictments Charge

The complaint charges that the Steel company truck, driven by Richard Cunningham, was driving north on Galena avenue when it struck the bus, pulled up at the east edge of the street while receiving passengers at 9:30 p. m., and charges the defendant with failure to exercise due caution. The complaint charged that the bus was useless for some time as the result of damage caused by the collision. R epairs were estimated at $2,000.

Grants Three Hearings

Judge George C. Dixon has granted hearings on writs of habeas corpus for three State hospital patients who declare that they are being held illegally at the institution here. The hearings were set for 10 a. m. Sept. 23 by Judge Dixon yesterday.

Principals in the action are Fred Schroeder, Dorothy Groth and Catherine Burke, all of whom claim that they were placed in the State hospital without due process, and that time covered by any order committing them has now expired.

Schroeder's writ states that he was committed upon the finding of Cook county Circuit court (Juvenile court), on March 28, 1939. Dorothy Groth was committed on the findings and order of the same court Dec. 20, 1940.

Commerce, does not make foreign policy. But he thinks we ought to make some changes in the policy we have.

He wrote a speech, saying so. This was unusual in itself. Members of Mr. Truman's cabinet, like in the State department.

Instead, he took the speech directly to Mr. Truman last Tuesday for approval and he got it. He went off to New York to deliver it Thursday night.

Thursday afternoon, a few hours before Wallace talked. Mr. Truman told a news conference in reply to questions that he not only had approved the whole speech but that it was in line with Mr. Byrnes' foreign policy.

This is where the storm broke and for these reasons:

1. The Wallace speech certainly didn't seem to be in line with the foreign policy Mr. Byrnes is following. It suggested changes.

2. But since Mr. Truman said he had approved the whole speech, did this mean that what Wallace suggested would be our new foreign policy?

3. Where did that leave Mr. Byrnes? Why was Mr. Truman letting Wallace announce a new foreign policy instead of Mr. Byrnes?

4. How could Byrnes remain as Secretary of State if Mr. Truman, without consulting him, had changed our foreign policy to a line different from the one Byrnes was following in Paris?

Plans Differ Completely

Here were main points of difference between what seems to be our present foreign policy and what Wallace suggested:

1. We have a "get tough with Russia" policy, although the state department doesn't like that kind of language. Wallace suggested we cut out the tough stuff.

2. We've been standing shoulder to shoulder with Britain in bucking Russia repeatedly. Wallace says we ought to have a foreign policy independent of Britain and not let Britain lead us into trouble.

3. We're on record against "spheres of influence." That is: domination by big nations of smaller nations around them. Wallace speaks of Russian and American spheres of influence as if they were now operating.

And Wallace says further: Let's keep our nose out of the political doings of nations close to Russia and let Russia do the same for us.

The storm became furious Friday after Wallace's Thursday night talk. Republicans jumped on Wallace for making the speech and on Mr. Truman for appoving it. Editorial writers condemned the talk.

And State department officials threw up their hands in dismay.

Pretty quickly it became clear Mr. Truman was going to have to say this was the new policy of the United States or else, in some way, make it clear that it wasn't.

He called a special news conference Saturday and read a statement which said:

Wallace Could Quit

He didn't mean, when he said he had approved the whole speech, that he had approved the speech as constituting a statement of this country's foreign policy.

Mr. Truman said further he only meant that he had approved Mr. Wallace's right to deliver the speech.

In his way Mr. Truman took himself and Mr. Byrnes off the hook and all that Mr. Wallace had said, then, was simply what Mr. Wallace thought and not what Mr. Truman thought. This seemed to cool things off a bit.

But yesterday Wallace, not finished at all, said: "I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace and I shall, within the near future, speak on this subject again."

So it seems Mr. Truman soon again will have to approve—or disapprove — Wallace's right to speak on foreign affairs. If he disapproves, then Wallace seems to be faced with this:

Either keep quiet, so long as he remains in Mr. Trumans' cabinet as Secretary of Commerce, or quitting his job and saying what he pleases as a private citizen.

Restaurant Prices

Corporation had applied for higher ceilings, but he declined to reveal the amount of the increase sought. The offiical said a decision on the petition "is not imminent."

Charles E. Wilson, president of GM, said in Detroit several days ago that the corporation would seek an increase of about $100 a car. GM builds Cevrolets, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Pontiacs and Cadillacs.

OPA raised ceiling prices for Fords, Mercurys and Lincolns on the ground that the Ford company was losing money on an overall basis due to abnormal operating conditions.

An OPA official estimated that Ford ceilings have risen an average of about 29 per cent since last November, compared with an average previous increase of about 22 per cent for the auto industry as a whole.

Maritime Strike Breaking Up With AFL Loading Ships

CIO Agrees Not to Interfere With AFL Longshoremen Today

(By The Associated Press)

A break in the maritime strike which has bottled up United States ports began today when AFL longshoremen began loading ships in New York and Portland, Me.

The break came after the National Maritime Union (CIO) agreed not to picket ships manned by the AFL Seafarers International Union except where they were berthed with NMU vessels.

In New York about 500 longshoremen were at work at 32 ships and hundreds more longshoremen were expected back on the job later today. At Portland CIO pickets quit three AFL-manned liberty ships, and workmen, who had refused to pass the picket lines, resumed delayed repairs to two of the vessels at the former New England Shipbuilding Corp., east yard.

AFL seamen began the strike Sept. 5 in protest against a wage stabilization board decision limiting negotiated wage increases.

All foreign ships not under contract to the NMU also were exempt from picketing under the new directive, issued this morning by NMU President Joseph Curran after a conference with his aides at union headquarters in New York and in the name of the national strike policy committee of the NMU.

Curran's order did not mention the future action to be taken by NMU members regarding ships manned by the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific.

The NMU head said the union's action would free about 40 SIU ships in the Port of New York, permitting them to prepare at once to sail.

Curran's directive followed by several hours a request by the AFL maritime trades department that the NMU withdraw its picket lines around all vessels on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts except CIO-contracted ships "to eliminate the possibility of wide-open jurisdictional warfare along all docks in all ports."

In urging the NMU withdraw its pickets by 5 a.m. (CDT) today, John Owens, executive secretary of the department, which speaks for AFL maritime unions, added that AFL maritime unions would respect picket lines around vessels whose operators have contracts with the NMU or the CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards Union.

Owens said that if the government seized any ships struck by the NMU or MCS the AFL unions would consider the action "a lockout and deal with it as such by stopping work on all piers and on all ships until such government seizure and operation stops."

Also involved in the strike is the maritime firemen, oilers, wipers and watertenders union, an independent organization.

The three unions struck Friday at the end of het AFL strike to enforce demands for pay raises equal to those won by AFL seamen.

Conferences between the NMU and east and gulf coast ship operators were broken off Sunday night when the operators said discussions would be "futile" while the NMU coupled its demands with those of the MCS and MFOWW on the west coast.

Security Council to Vote on Greek "Threat to Peace"

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 17—(AP)—Canada, joining the United Nations in the fight to create an international refugee organization, warned the United Nations Economic and Social Council today that the peaceful recovery of Europe may be hindered and delayed indefinitely if a million non-German refugees are abandoned in occupied territory.

Meanwhile, the U. N. Security Council, with Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko sitting for the first time as chairman, neared a vote on the long debated Ukrainian charges that Greece, aided by Britain, is threatening peace in the Balkans.

The security council, now in its third week of debate on the Ukraine's case, was set to resume discussion of the highly controversial issue involving Greece at 2 p. m.

Gromyko yesterday demanded that the security council order Greece to cease "threatening peace" in the Balkans.

Hear Both Sides

First speaker scheduled to be heard is Vassili Dendramis, Greek representative to the United Nations, who is leading his country's fight against the Ukrainian charges.

Before the council were several proposals, including an Australian motion to by-pass the Ukrainian charges and move on to the next item: Whether to admit to the council a Russian proposal that the 11-nation body call on all member nations with troops in foreign countries that were not enemies in the war to give complete data, as of Aug. 1, about the troops' strength and deployment.

He was brought to the KSB hospital where he was reported to be resting comfortably today.

Located Bag Owner—

A well packed canvas bag, the type usually carried by service men, which was found on one of the big stones on the east parking space about four weeks ago, led Dixon police to suspicion that the owner may have jumped into Rock river. The bag was turned over to the police and Chief Gilbert Glessner inspected the contents and found army discharge papers which had been issued to Norman I. Brickson of Edgerton, Wis.

Chief Glessner directed a letter to this individual and awaited results. Today he was about to call the sheriff or police chief of Edgerton when he received a letter from Brickson, who is now living at Davenport, Iowa, which requested that he forward the bag to him. Another bag which contains an army blanket and other articles of wearing apparel which was reported to have been left at the bus terminal is also being held by the police. An inspection of the contents revealed the name, Jack Thompson, but otherwise no address was given whereby the owner could be traced.

NEW TREATMENT CHASES PIN-WORMS

Millions have suffered in silence with the miseries of Pin-Worms—but need suffer no longer! Today, thanks to a special, medically recognized drug, a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms and relieve that tormenting rectal itch.

So if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, ask your druggist for a package of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions.

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Corn Denting Now; Hard Kernels Free From Frost Damage

Average Date of First Killing Frost in State Is Oct. 12

Chicago, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Warm, fair weather, a boon to the prospective bumper corn crop, appears to have settled over the midwest for at least a two or three-day stay, the weather bureau said today.

"It's just what we need to mature the corn and top off the growing season," the bureau said, adding that temperatures generally would range upward from 80 degrees today and perhaps become even warmer tomorrow.

No end of the warm weather for the area is in sight yet, the bureau said.

CORN DENTING

Chicago, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Tall corn in the mid-western prairie lands, the base upon which much of the nation's future food supplies will be built, is turning from green to brown in these late summer days—evidence that the crop is maturing.

With the tang of autumn already in the air, the bumper corn crop, largest in the nation's history, is again in a race with time. This year it is late in maturing, and to get a good quality crop experts said it was necessary for the grain to mature before frosts.

"During the last week," the Baldwin Elevator company of Decatur, Ill., said today, "there has been a very definite change in the appearance of corn fields. The husks and stalks have changed from deep green to the brown shade of maturity."

Loses Moisture Now

Grain experts explained that the corn was "denting"—which meant that little dents, or creases, were appearing on the top of those yellow kernels which you eat when you order corn-on-the-cob.

This in turn meant that the corn was drying out, that moisture was withdrawing from the kernels, leaving the indenture on top, and that the kernel was hardening. It should be hardened if corn is to escape damage when the early frosts appear.

A visible evidence of this process of nature was provided in the browning fields of the corn belt, from Ohio on the east across the prairies to Nebraska on the west.

Corn Is Basic Food

It is upon corn, crop analysts pointed out, that much of America's food economy rests. The grain is fed to farm animals and poultry to produce meat and dairy products.

Ed Boerner of Harris, Upham and Company said that about two weeks more of good weather, without frost, were needed if the crop was to mature in best condition.

After corn has matured, it may remain in fields throughout the winter without suffering damage. C. M. Galvin of James E. Bennett and Company said. He added that most corn, however, was harvested before Christmas.

Royal Bell of Lamson Brothers & Company gave the following average date of first killing frosts in major corn belt states: Wisconsin and Minnesota, Sept. 28; Nebraska, Oct. 3; Iowa, Oct. 5; Illinois and Kansas, Oct. 12; Indiana, Oct. 13; Ohio, Oct. 14; Missouri, Oct. 15.

Illini, Badgers Get Set for Lid Lifters; Hold Light Workout

Young, Rykovich Start in Backfield; Moss to Open at Quarter

(By The Associated Press)

Illinois, Purdue, Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa began tapering off today as coaches tried to avoid additional injuries before the teams open their 1946 football campaign Saturday.

Ray Eliot ran the Illinois through light workouts yesterday then named the probable starting lineup for the Pittsburgh game—Buddy Young and Julie Rykovich at halfbacks; Perry Moss at quarter and Russ Steger at fullback; Joe Buscemi at left end and Frank Bauman at right end; Mike Kasap left tackle and Bill Franks right tackle; Bob Prymuski and Alex Agase at guard and Mac Wenskunas, team captain, at center.

Purdue's squad will practice under lights in Columbian Park stadium tonight in a public preview sponsored by the LaFayette (Ind.) Chamber of Commerce before the team takes on Miami of Ohio Saturday. Only light drills were held yesterday.

Regan Twists Knee

Right halfback Jim Regan of Wisconsin will be on the sidelines when the Badgers square off against Marquette. Regan was out with a badly twisted knee. Three other casualties — end Gunnar Johnson, fullback T. A. Cox, and tackle Armond Hoehn—will be ready to play in the 22nd game of the long series with the Hilltoppers.

Coach Bo McMillin announced that only one three-hour drill in the afternoon would be held the remainder of the week as Indiana prepared to face Cincinnati university. Blocking for the placekicker was stressed in workouts yesterday, with Chuck Armstrong and Stan Dubick alternating in booting extra points.

Iowa Drills Slow Up

Freshman week and registration brought a lull in practices at Iowa as the Hawkeyes rounded out preparations for their opener against North Dakota State.

Ohio State—Harry Krall moved up tothe No. 1 left half spot following an injury to Tommy James in Saturday's scrimmage, while Alex Verdova, right half prospect, injured his knee and may be out of practice most of the week. Coach Paul Bixler, adding several pass plays from single wing formation, put the squad on two practices a day.

Michigan—With the greatest assortment of end candidates in Michigan history, Art Renner, team captain, is being hard pressed to earn a starting position. He must beat out such men as Elmer Madar, Lenny Ford, Dick Rifenburg, Ed. McNeill, Don Hershberger, Bob Mann and Ed. Bahlow.

Bierman Keeps Shifting

Minnesota—Bernie Bierman has made some more shifts—sending Joe Silovich, a back who has been running with the sixth team, to the first string; Warren Beson replacing Clayte Tonnemaker at center; Bill Bye returning from left half to his old right half position and Vern Gagne going to right end after a 10-day trial at fullback. Larry Halenkamp was promoted to the left end spot as Herb Hein still was in civilian clothes because of a rib injury.

Northwestern — Lynn Waldorf greeted an additional 35 men, mostly freshmen, which boosted his squad to 125. He said at least two players are waging an even fight for every position and added that the accurate passing of Pat Keefe of Chicago, a freshman and former GI, merited his consideration as first string quarterback.

Truman Has Pale View of Gridders Leaving Academy

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 17—(AP)—President Truman's military aide says he has told Selective Service officials that the chief executive doesn't relish the idea of football players leaving the service academies ot play at their home schools, The Commercial Appeal said today.

In a Washington dispatch, the newspaper quoted Maj. Gen. Harry N. Vaughan as saying that "our action in this matter is entirely passive. But I did tell Selective Service of the President's attitude."

The article said Vaughan added:

"We take a very pale view of a man who accepts a West Point appointment during the war, accepts the money West Point gives him, accepts the $2,000 a year that is spent on his education and maintenance and then when the shooting is over and armored vest is not a necessity, resigns and then goes back home to play football.

"Naturally any man that does that is suspected."

Vaughan was not available for comment.

The newspaper quoted him as saying the president was "amused" by its copyrighted article, published Monday, which said Truman had ordered induction of football stars who have left the academies.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said in Washington that there was "absolutely nothing to the report."

Players who have left the service academies to play at other schools include Thomas (Shorty) McWilliams, from West Point to Mississippi State, and the following from Annapolis: Clyde Scott of Arkansas, Bob Kelly of Notre Dame, Tony Minisi of Penn and Ralph Ellsworth of the University of Texas.

Bruins Could Settle Pennant Winner in Final Cards Series

Cubs Out of Running But Get Chance to Stop Birds or Bums

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis' glee over Bill Nicholson's grand slam homer that sunk the Brooklyn Dodgers should be tempered by the knowledge that the Cardinals must face the selfsame Chicago Cubs in six of their remaining 11 games.

If Nicholson, despite his anemic .223 batting average, suddenly reawakens in the final weeks of the season, it will be the Red Birds who will bear the brunt of his attack.

By that time it might make no difference for St. Louis holds a two-game advantage with time rapidly running out in their favor. The Brooks are now one down in the loss column and three on the winning side with only 13 to play as compared to 11 for the Cards.

Cubs Pour It On

Charley Grimm's Bruins, obviously nettled by the cold statistics that prove they were just a "one shot" champ, are pouring it on down the stretch, playing each game as though it were the payoff till in the World Series.

The Cubs played yesterday's game for everything there was in it, sending Hank Borowy back on relief a day after he had pitched a complete, if abbreviated, game against Kirby Higbe.

The Cubs' 10-7 win went to Borowy over rookie Paul Minner, who made the mistake of throwing a fast ball to Nicholson with a 3-2 count and three on.

Billy Southworth's Boston Braves clinched fourth place, the first time they have finished in the first division since 1934, by shutting out Cincinnati, 4-0, in a night game.

Raffy Hurls Shutout

Kenney Raffensberger whitewashed Pittsburgh, 2-0, for the Phillies in the other night game, witnessed by 19,274 fans at Shibe park. Charley Gilbert drove home the winning run in the sixth and the other scored on an error by catcher Hank Camelli.

Detroit protected its 2½ game edge over New York in the second place scrap in the American league by hammering Bobo Newsom from the hill in downing Washington, 11-7. Roy Cullenbine, subbing for Hank Greenberg who was out with an ailing back, hit a three-run homer off Milo Candini to make the Tigers' lead secure.

The New York Yankees outlasted the St. Louis Browns, 7-5, Joe DiMaggio driving in three runs to help reliefer Joe Page pick up his ninth win.

Pay Cut Limit Will Aid Baseball Stars

New York, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Practically all of the contract reforms requested by major league baseball players will be in the 1947 documents in addition to a few the big league performers hadn't previously made public.

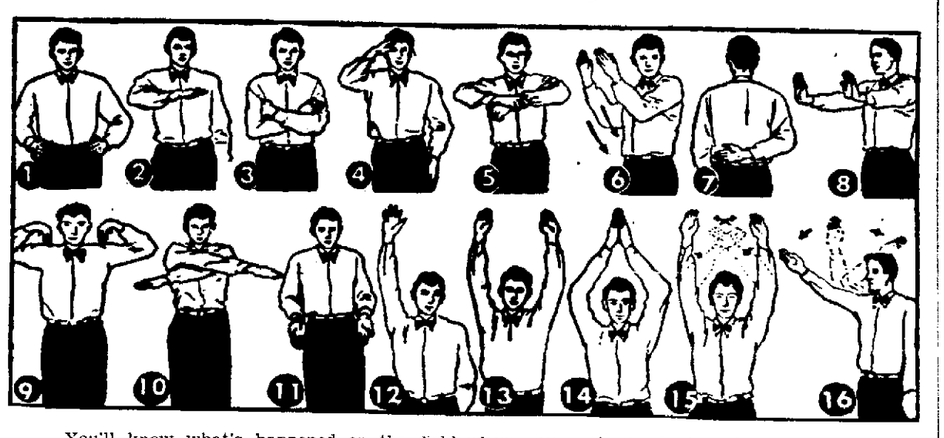

The $5,000 minimum salary per year and an allowance of $25 a week to a player for spring training expenses above transportation, room and board—the primary changes asked by the players—were agreed upon by the magnates at a joint meeting of club owners of both leagues here yesterday.

Biggest surprise of the confab was the request to limit the reduction of a players' salary to 25 per cent of the amount he received the previous season.

This clause had not been previously mentioned and it will no doubt benefit the game's high salaries stars and former stars such as Hank Greenberg, Mort and Walker Cooper, Charley Keller, Joe DiMaggio and a number of other top grade performers who might be asked to take a big cut.

The new ruling means that Greenberg for example, who is reported hauling down $60,000 a year cannot be forced to sign for less than $45,000 next season. The only way out for the club owner is to give the player his unconditional release.

Tami Easy to Hit With Left, States Louis in Workout

New York, Sept. 17—(AP)—Joe Louis, glad the slow, fat-melting, punch-sharpening grind of training was over, admitted Tami Mauriello is easy to hit as he sat in his dressing quarters.

And you shuddered to think of what might happen to Tami in Yankee stadium tomorrow night, because you remember the assorted lumps and bumps the Bomber has raised on other guys he's been able to hit down through the years.

"Yep," he confessed, "that Tami is easy to hit with either hand, and especially the left."

The heavyweight champion had just completed his final session of sparring with a four-round frolic against a quartet of punch catchers late yesterday. After waltzing around with Perk Daniel, George Fitch and Teddy Randolph, he took on Elridge Eastman, a wide-swinging swatter from Norwalk, Conn., with a style somewhat similar to Tami's wild way of throwing a left hand from the Bronx and right from Brooklyn.

And in the short stretch against Elridge, Joe showed just what he mean by that "especially the left." He stepped inside of Eastman's curve-ball pitching and belabored him with southpaw shots until the Connecticut clouter must have thought he was catching a doubleheader for Lefty Gomez.

Being a fellow who always gives the other man a chance, Joe included, in his final pre-fight look at tomorrow's taffy pull, the possibility that the Bronx barkeep might conceivably nail him a lucky Sunday shot. But it seemed Joe had a hard time convincing even himself, let alone the boxing writers from various sections of the country who have been arriving daily this past week to sit in on the Bomber's 23rd defense of his title.

Army Center to Take McWilliams' Back Spot

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Herschel (Tug) Wilson, center on Army's all-winning football team last fall, will replace Thomas (Shorty) McWilliams in the first-string Cadet backfield this fall.

Coach Earl Blaik said today that the 215-pound product of Middlesburg, Ky., had been transferred to the ball carrying department following McWilliams' decision to pursue his girdiron fortunes in the south.

"We may not be as fast at right half this year as we were last season but Fuson packs more weight and he can bump hard," Blaik said in explaining the move that gives Jim Enos of Madera, Calif., a starting birth in the center of the line.

Reds' Catcher Makes Put Out Near Second

Boston, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Ever hear of a catcher making a put-out in the vicinity of second base? Ray Mueller, Cincinnati Reds' catcher did it.

In the eighth inning last night Nanny Fernandez, Braves' third sacker, was on second after singling and moving up on a walk to Connie Ryan.

Both runners had long leads in anticipation of a bunt by pitcher Ed Wright.

Wright missed the pitch and Mueller made as if to throw to second to trap Nanny and the latter jockeyed as if to dare Mueller to throw.

So Ray ran at Fernandez, all the time motioning as if he would throw. Eventually he trapped Fernandez near second and tagged him out.

Special Allied aircraft, known as "Ferrets," packed full of electonic equipment, were used during the war as aerial "spies" to spot the enemy's closely guarded radar secrets. These paved the way for bombing raids on enemy strong points.

Hominy grits make a very good substitute for the missing rice these days. To give them a little more personality, cook with curry powder to taste and serve over it any leftover meat, chicken or seafood.

Mrs. Stephen Dunn, of Elmhurst, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Addie Beck and visited her sister, Mrs. Emmett Connell, who is making satisfactory recovery from major surgery at the Warmolts clinic.

Mrs. Charles Ferguson and infant daughter Sandra Kay came Friday from Freeport for an extended stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Short.

Miss Jessie Emerson entertained a guest the past week, Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, of Shabbona.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Richards, of Janesville, Wis., were week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Lippert.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoover, of Chicago, former Oregon residents spent several days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fritz.

Mrs. Dwight Mackay is getting about with the aid of crutches due to an infection in her foot.

Mrs. Katherine Hendren has been under treatment the past several days at the local clinic for injuries received when the car in which she and her mother, Mrs. Fred Mongan were riding was struck by another car with defective brakes. The accident occurred on route 64 on the Liberty Hill curve.

Frank McMurcky, daughter Louise, Mrs. Alma Stine and Misses Gen and Mary Ridulth, of DeKalb were guests Sunday of the Sauer sisters. Misses McMurky and Mary Ridulth left from here Sunday evening for Dubuque, Iowa, to attend Clark college. Miss McMurcky is a senior and Miss Ridulth a freshman.

A social gathering was held on the Church of God lawn Monday evening as a welcome to new students of Oregon Bible college and the Otto Dick family who recently moved to Oregon from Indiana. Mr. Dick is an instructor at the college.

Roland Young, who has been under treatment at St. Anthony's hospital, Rockford, for a heart affliction, has been moved to the local hospital.

LARGEST CREATURE

The world's largest creature is the giant Cyanea jellyfish. Spread out, with its tentacles reaching in all directions, its diameter would be more than 200 feet, yet the whole animal could be placed in a small pail.

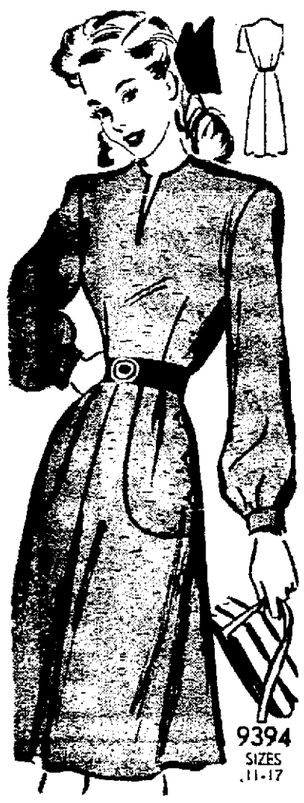

You can't see the new moon. When you first see the crescent moon low in the western sky, it is from one to two days old.

Raps Washington

At a Washington luncheon attended by government officials, Bartley C. Crum, former member of the Anglo-American Palestine Commission, charged that "middle level" State Department officers and the British "social lobby" in Washington have, since 1920, secretly thwarted attempts to set up a Jewish national home in Palestine.

Legion Urges Full Registration to Back State Bond Issue

Ask Veterans, Others to Join Actively Behind Question at Polls

Commander William P. Kleuskens, of the American Legion, Department of Illinois, in accordance with a mandate o fthe recent Legion state convention, supporting the coming Illinois veterans bonus issue, has announced the appointment of a special committee to urge all war veterans, as well as all other citizens not registered, to do so on or before Oct. 8, in order to vote on the issue in the coming Nov. 5 election. Commander Kleuskens at the same time urged all war veteran organizations to join in the Legion program.

The committee includes John Stelle, national commander of the Legion; Douglass Getchell, Illinois Legion senior vice-commander; James Simpson, industrialist; Dwight Anderson, chairman of the Legion legislative committee; Arthur Kane, advertising executive of Bloomington, and Walter E. Wiles, Legion past district commander, chairman.

"Thousands of discharged veterans who had not reached voting age when they entered the service," Commander Kleuskens pointed out, "will now want to exercise one of the vital rights they fought for, that of voting on all issues coming before the people, which includes the bonus bond issue that will appear on a separate ballot."

A pamphlet to be issued by the committee will contain the following election registration information.

1. Register in person with your county clerk or the board of election commissioners on or before Monday, Oct. 7.

2. In Chicago and 19 downstate cities voters may register on or before Oct. 7, with the board of election commissioners.

(Precinct polling places throughout the state will be open for registration of voters on Oct. 8.)

3. Veterans discharged from the service within 60 days of election day, Nov. 5 (if not registered), should take their discharge certificate with them to the polls on election day, and be accompanied by a registered voter who can make out an affidavit of residence.

4. To vote, you must have residence in the state for one year, in the county 90 days, and the precinct 30 days.

5. Persons in active military service may vote by mail, even though they are not registered. Request an application for absentee ballot from your county clerk or board of election commissioners lot less than five days before election. Both the application and the ballot must be sworn to before a notary or a commissioned officer in the military or naval service.

6. In cases of students and other citizens, application must be made to county clerk or board of election commissioners 30 days (and not less than five days) prior to election. The applicant must be registered.

7. Personal application for absentee ballots may be made up to three days prior to date of election.

8. Absentee ballots must be requested by mail before Nov. 1.

9. Students may register in the town where they are attending school, if they meet residence requirements.

Bar Red Publications in US Occupation Zone

Berlin, Sept. 16—(AP)—Soviet-controlled publications were barred today from the American occupation zone.

Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, in explanation, said the Russians had failed to agree to a free exchange of books and newspapers throughout Germany. The French and British agreed to the exchange, so that German publications will circulate freely in the western allies' zones.

The DC-8 transport is unique in that contraprops have been moved into the tail assembly, and the power plant has been shifted to the center of the craft.

New Tax Plan Will Stimulate Building for Rental Housing

Owners Not Restricted on Depreciation Rates by New Provision

A new accelerated depreciation tax plan for owners of multi-family property is expected to greatly stimulate the building of moderately priced rental housing, Charles J. Horan, Regional Expediter for the National Housing Agency, said today.

Under the new income tax provision owners of rental housing will not be restricted to the equal installment method of charging off depreciation. For income tax purposes they will be permitted a faster rate of depreciation while the housing is new when a greater income is expected from the property, Horen said. The ruling was made by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at the request of Wilson Wyatt, National Expediter of the Veterans Emergency Housing Program. It should prove an incentive to the construction of more critically needed rental housing, Horan pointed out.

One Fourth For Rent

At least one-fourth of all new dwelling units started under the priorities regulation of the Veterans Emergency Housing Program must be offered for rent. During the first eight months of the Wyatt program, 28 per cent of the privately financed permanent dwelling units were built for rental purposes, Horan stated. This volume must be increased, he declared, because mounting construction costs in many instances are bringing the sales price of a new home out of reach of the average veteran.

Rental owners have the option of choosing between the accelerated depreciation and the "equal installment" method in computing taxes. In addition, any owner who finds that because of special economic and physical factors, his property has a shorter useful life than is normally the case, has the right to apply to the Bureau of Internal Revenue to increase his annual allowances for depreciation beyond the 3.75 per cent rate.

Text of Ruling

Following is the text of the new ruling: "The Bureau of Internal Revenue recognizes and approves the use of the declining balance method of accounting for depreciation with the condition that the applicable declining balance rate not exceed 150 per cent of the normal straight line rate. For example, where the normal depreciation rate of a building is 2.5 per cent the declining balance rate would be 3.75 per cent. Under this method the amount of depreciation in the case of new property computed at the applicable rate for the first year is subtracted from the cost or other basis of the property and the declining balance rate would thereafter be applied to the resulting balances from year to year."

Personnel records of passenger car manufacturers show that 31,514 men and women have employment histories dating back 20 years. Additional 1700 workers have 25 years, and at least 439 persons have been on automotive payrolls between 35 and 40 years.

Foreign Briefs

Nuernberg, Sept. 17 — (AP) — The international military tribunal announced today that its verdict against 22 first-rank leaders of Nazi Germany on war crimes charges will be handed down Sept. 30, insteadof Sept. 23 as previously planned.

One source said it was "physically impossible" for the court which recessed Aug. 31 to consider its verdict to get through the mountainous heaps of evidence exhibits and speeches heard during the trial, which lasted more than nine months, by Sept. 23.

Berlin, Sept. 17—(AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) today denounced as "just politics and publicity" demands made by certain U. S. senators for a senatorial investigation of the conduct of American occupational forces in Germany.

Thomas added: "I doubt that a committee of the U. S. senate could be selected that would be qualified to pass on the efficiency of the army of occupation".

Thomas was interviewed at Templehoff airfield upon his arrival from Frankfurt, where he had conferred yesterday with the European theater commander Gen. Joseph T. McNarney. He planned to discuss military government affairs today with Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay deputy military governor, and to depart tomorrow for Paris.

Brisbane Sept. 17—(AP)—The "squatter" movement launched recently in Britain spread to Australia today when more than 100 families moved into vacant military camps in two Brisbane suburbs.

Honolulu, Sept. 17—(AP)—The top-of-the-world flight of the Superfortress Pacusan Dreamboat to Cairo, tentatively) set to begin today, was postponed again last night by its commander Col. C. S. Irvine with the explanation that "we're not quite ready".

Sweetwater, Tex., Sept. 17—(AP)— A spectacular crash landing by a pilot of a crippled plane of the Pacific National airplanes was credited here today with having saved the lives of 21 recently discharged soldiers enroute to their homes from the Pacific coast.

The pilot, R. M. Kreig, made the crash landing in the rough, hill country, 11 miles east of here late last night.

None of the passengers or crewmen received a scratch.

The plane, a DC-3, had developed engine trouble while enroute from Los Angeles to Dallas, Chicago, and eastern points.

London, Sept. 17—(AP) — The Soviet government's newspaper Izvestia, replying to what it called "incorrect and tendentious reports" in the foreign press, said today that United States had closed American naval missions in Vladivostok and Archangel because they no longer were needed.

"U. S. A. Navy representatives were left in Vladivostok, Archangel and Odessa only temporarily to complete the work connected with lend-lease deliveries", the newspapers declared.

Veterans Finding Difficulty to Get Into Universities

Approximately 52,000 Illinois veterans plan to attend Illinois colleges and universities this fall on a full time basis, and nearly 20,000 of them will be seeking admission for the first time, a VA survey revealed today. This figure will be further increased by an undetermined number of out-of-state vets who hope to enter Illinois schools this fall.

Many schools have already closed their enrollment for the 1946 fall term, and several veterans from Dixon are reported experiencing difficulty in enrolling due to overcrowded conditions.

A. M. Arehart, VA contact representative, 119 Hennepin avenue, reveals that the following schools were listed as Sept. 5 have vacancies left: Chicago Teachers college, 400 day class vacancies; DePaul university, evening classes only; Illinois Institute of Technology, evening classes; John Marshall law school, day classes for 40 in legal courses; Kent College of Law, both day and evening classes; Loyola university (downtown campus) evening classes only; North Park college, evening Liberal Arts classes; Northwestern university (downtown campus), evening classes in Liberal Arts and Sciences; Roosevelt college, evening classes in Liberal Arts and Sciences.

All schools listed above are in Chicago.

The British Avro II has a cruising speed of 200-250 mph, and it is a 60-passenger craft that can be converted to cargo. It has a range of 1,850 miles.

Wyoming had equal rights for women in its territorial days and continued them when it was admitted to the Union.

Lights for night airmail were installed first between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Chicago, Ill.

During 1945, accidental deaths in the United States totaled 96,000 an increase of one per cent over 1944.
